PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, JUNE 19, 2020, 12:00 PM

3 (Call to order of the Court.)

4 THE COURT: Good morning -- or good afternoon.

5 THE CLERK: Good morning -- good afternoon. This is 6 the Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of California.
7 Court is now in session. The Honorable Dennis Montali
8 presiding, Matter of PG&E Corporation.

9                   THE COURT: I guess we're bringing Mr. Karotkin in 10 first, and anyone else asked to come in at this point?

11 THE CLERK: Not at the moment.

12 THE COURT: All right.

13 THE CLERK: I'm bringing Mr. Karotkin in, Your Honor.

14 MR. KAROTKIN: Good afternoon.

15 THE COURT: Good afternoon, Mr. Karotkin.

16 MR. KAROTKIN: How are you, Your Honor?

17 THE COURT: I'm ready to re-

18 MR. KAROTKIN: Good, good.

19 THE COURT: All right. I from you, even though I know you who you are.

22 Weil, Gotshal & Manges for the debtors. Thank you.

23 THE COURT: So you've got everything solved for me?

24 MR. KAROTKIN: You've put a huge burden on me over the 25 last two weeks, and I addressed with my colleagues and other

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 plan proponents, and the TCC, almost everything you asked us to 2 address. Unfortunately, I couldn't accommodate you on the last 3 two items.

4 THE COURT: Well, if we're only down to two, that's 5 okay. I've got about four items, so let's see. Let's compare 6 lists. I've got a very discrete matter that needs to be 7 resolved, or maybe it's been resolved involving the San Joaquin 8 Irrigation District, and then -- and then we have the one issue 9 on the securities litigation, a couple of issues on the 10 creditors' committee, and I've lost track of where we are on 11 the, what's called issue number 2 in the -- between the trust 12 and some victims. So that's what I have on my list.

13 MR. KAROTKIN: Okay.

14 THE COURT: What do you have?

15 MR. KAROTKIN: Let me give you my list. We have the, 16 what I'll call the PERA litigation that we can talk about, and 17 I know Mr. Johnston and Mr. Etkin will want to address that. I 18 think that is largely resolved. There were some pleadings 19 filed over the last twenty-four hours with respect to that.

20 THE COURT: Right.

21 MR. KAROTKIN: And I'm sure you've --

22 THE COURT: I'm aware of that.

23 MR. KAROTKIN: There is the San Joaquin issue that was 24 raised yesterday, I believe, for the first time. As far as I'm 25 concerned, it was raised yesterday for the first time. I

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 thought we had disposed of that two weeks ago.
2 There are the two issues with the creditors'
3 committee. I'm pleased to say that the issue from last 4 Thursday, July 11th, on the trust agreement, has been resolved.
5 And in fact, the trust documents, meaning the -- excuse me, the 6 Fire Victim's Trust agreement, and the fire victim claims 7 resolution procedures have been finalized among all of the 8 parties, and it is our intention later today to file those 9 documents with an updated plan supplement in final form. So 10 that's another one we took away from you, sir.

11 THE COURT: Does the -- 12 MR. KAROTKIN: That's another one for you.

13 THE COURT: -- does the order confirming have to be 14 conformed to something on the trust resolution, or can they 15 stand alone in terms of matters?

16 MR. KAROTKIN: They can stand alone in the plan
17 supplement, I believe. I mean, we do have -- we have filed a 18 new proposed order which we have modified to incorporate that 19 you -- your memorandum and decision the other day, so we think 20 that that proposed order works with what you've already done in 21 terms of the findings of fact.

22 So I think -- oh, Mr. Pascuzzi and Mr. Troy, I 23 believe, have an issue with the time within which they have to 24 give us the information on cure amounts, which --

25 THE COURT: Okay.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 MR. KAROTKIN: So I think that's it.

2 THE COURT: Why don't you tell me, you believe you 3 have a resolution of the San Joaquin Irrigation District?

4 MR. KAROTKIN: I frankly don't understand what they're 5 asking for.

6 THE COURT: Okay.

7 MR. KAROTKIN: I think we made it clear in 10.13, I 8 think it's 10.13, that there's a carve-out for eminent domain, 9 and I think that's what they raised. We addressed that. No 10 one said anything, and now all of the sudden they are asking 11 us, as I understand it, to specifically address their piece of 12 litigation, and I just don't think that's necessary, Your 13 Honor. The --

14 THE COURT: Okay, let me stop you. Let's bring Mr.
15 Glassman in. Mr. Glassman wanted to be heard. This is a 16 discrete question. I think we can resolve it quickly, and 17 we'll hear from him.

18 Good afternoon, Mr. Glassman. When you come on -- 19 when you unmute, and then state your appearance for the record.
20 All right?

21 MR. GLASSMAN: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Paul 22 Glassman of Stradling Yocca Carlson & Rauth for the South San 23 Joaquin Irrigation District.

24 THE COURT: Mr. Glassman, I want to, not apologize, 25 but I want to tell you I wasn't trying to ignore you when I

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 issued my decision. I thought it was a resolved matter, and so 2 it was just a done deal, and then when you filed your request
3 for clarification, maybe I hurt your feelings, and you didn't 4 think you were -- thought maybe you were unloved.

5 But I thought it was resolved in the paragraph 10.13, 6 and I have to agree with Mr. Karotkin, I think we end up -- 7 this thing looks like a Christmas tree constructed by a 8 committee if we add onto the order confirming the plan, 9 specific treatment of various individual parties' disputes. So 10 it seems to me substantively your client's a hundred percent 11 protected. I'm not opposed to approving a stipulated order 12 that sort of lives by itself that memorializes the specifics of 13 the litigation you've got going on between the debtors and your 14 clients, but I don't think it belongs in the order confirming 15 the plan.

16 MR. GLASSMAN: Well, Your Honor, we -- in speaking on 17 the eminent domain issue, of course, we have actual live 18 controversy regarding the issue, and we were speaking on our 19 behalf, and also on behalf of others who, taking the lead, who 20 have concerns on eminent domain as well.

21 So in the resolution of the colloquies, and the Court 22 may recall one of the colloquies we had where we indicated that 23 we would review the language, and that we were going to ask for 24 a specific finding which does nothing more than memorialize 25 what the debtor has already -- has said in the papers, and the

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 purpose is just to make it clear for purposes of our actual 2 live litigation, so no court, looking at it, has to kind of 3 figure out whether it's within the scope, and it just adds -- 4 we're just talking about adding a few words in the confirmation 5 order, just so it says including this specific action.

6 THE COURT: Yeah, but listen Mr. Glassman, that's my 7 point. You certainly ought to have a clear path to resolution 8 in front of a superior court judge down in your neck of the 9 woods who doesn't know about bankruptcy. That's why a 10 stipulated separate order that lays out in specific is 11 perfectly fine, but putting it into a plan, which is dozens and 12 dozens and dozens of pages long, doesn't solve the problem. It 13 complicates the problem because I've got news for you, 14 everybody else will want a separate provision in the order, and 15 I'm not willing to do that, and I think Mr. Karotkin's point is 16 well taken.

17 So if the goal here is to make sure the Irrigation 18 District has nobody -- no bankruptcy issues standing in the 19 way, I'll solve the problem for you with a standalone order.

20 MR. GLASSMAN: That would be fine, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: Mr. Karotkin, you don't care. You're not 22 going to complain about that, right?

23 MR. KAROTKIN: We're happy to consider a proposed 24 stipulation, and assuming it is what it is, then it should be 25 fine, but then --

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1                   THE COURT: Okay, but what it is should be almost the 2 verbatim language on page 3 of Mr. Glassman's latest filing.
3 It's about an eight-line statement that he wants in the order, 4 and I'll say let's put it in a stipulated side order.

5                   MR. KAROTKIN: Your Honor, as I said, we'll review it.
6 I don't -- I haven't consulted with the client if that's the 7 precise action that we're talking about.

8                   THE COURT: Okay.

9                   MR. KAROTKIN: And if it is, that's fine.

10                  MR. GLASSMAN: Well, Your Honor --

11                  MR. KAROTKIN: But we need to address it today.

12                  MR. GLASSMAN: It --

13                  MR. KAROTKIN: First of all, let me finish. Mr.
14 Glassman had an opportunity two weeks ago to tell Your Honor 15 that he wanted specific language in the order addressing his 16 particular lawsuit. I have absolutely no recollection of that, 17 but what I do have a recollection of is that this language was 18 agreed to.

19                  THE COURT: Okay, but Mr. Karotkin, I'm trying to put 20 this baby to bed, just like you are today, and no one needs to 21 apologize for not remembering everything. I'm not going to 22 apologize for not remembering thousands of things that have 23 come in front of me in the last two weeks, and you need 24 neither, but neither does Mr. Glassman.

25                  So look, the language that -- to my way of thinking,

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 1015, I believe it is, in the plan and the language in the 2 proposed order is fine. A separate stipulation, Mr. Glassman, 3 if you can follow the language in the document that I --

4 MR. GLASSMAN: I will follow --

5 THE COURT: I think it'll probably work. If Mr.
6 Karotkin and you want to tweak it, that's fine too.

7 MR. GLASSMAN: Okay, but what I'm hearing, and this is 8 the problem why I'm asking, this is exact -- this colloquy 9 demonstrates exactly why I'm asking for the language because 10 after all of the back and forth in the pleadings where it 11 was -- we believed it was clear that our action was covered, 12 and such, and it couldn't have been more clearer, now I hear 13 Mr. Karotkin saying we're not so such. So that's exactly the 14 statement --

15 MR. KAROTKIN: That's not what I'm saying.

16 THE COURT: No, no, that's not what he's saying.

17 MR. KAROTKIN: That's not what I'm saying.

18 THE COURT: That's not what he's saying, Mr. Glassman.

19 MR. KAROTKIN: Please.

20 THE COURT: That's not fair. It's not -- he's not 21 saying that. He saying he doesn't remember the specifics of 22 the deal, but I remember the specifics of 10.13, that quite 23 unequivocally carves out eminent domain. So --

24 MR. KAROTKIN: And all I'm saying, Your Honor, is --

25 THE COURT: Yeah.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1                   MR. KAROTKIN: -- let me have an opportunity to look 2 at the exact action he's talking about, speak to my client, and 3 if it's within an eminent domain proceeding, it's not going to 4 be an issue.

5                   THE COURT: Yes.

6                   MR. KAROTKIN: But on the fly, I'm entitled to look at 7 that.

8                   THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Karotkin, you don't have to say 9 it again. I'm in your --

10                  MR. KAROTKIN: Yeah.

11                  THE COURT: -- camp on this one.

12                  MR. KAROTKIN: Okay.

13                  THE COURT: Mr. Glassman, I'm looking at 10.13, if I 14 were a superior court judge in San Joaquin County, I think I 15 could understand that I'm free to go forward without regard to 16 the bankruptcy to decide on an eminent domain action, even 17 though it doesn't mention it in the plan. But in a separate 18 order, it can name it by case number, and initials of the 19 judge, if you like.

20                  MR. GLASSMAN: Yeah.

21                  THE COURT: Okay?

22                  MR. GLASSMAN: Thank you, Your Honor. I just want to 23 say one more thing. In addition to that language, there was 24 also a specific indication in the reply papers that the eminent 25 domain action, the actions -- the eminent domain action, our

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 action, and the LAFCo action, in their specific reply to our 2 papers was not a claim that would be affected by discharge. So 3 I really don't understand what the controversy is --

4 THE COURT: I know, but --

5 MR. GLASSMAN: -- but we'll submit that.

6 THE COURT: I'm satisfied. I think your client is one 7 hundred percent protected by 10.13 and the clarification that 8 I'll grant it in an order, so I'm really not --

9 MR. GLASSMAN: Thank you, Your Honor.

10 THE COURT: Okay.

11 MR. GLASSMAN: That resolves it.

12 THE COURT: All right, thank you. Thank you, Mr.
13 Glassman. I'll look for you to exchange with Mr. Karotkin on 14 a -- he's got his hands full -- on a separate order. Okay.

15 MR. GLASSMAN: Thank you, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Thank you.

17 Mr. Karotkin, can you go back and clarify something?
18 Maybe I just didn't hear you exactly right. There's been a 19 final resolution of all the issues that were between the 20 trust -- the trustee, and the, what we'll call the objectors, 21 that's been resolved?

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. KAROTKIN: -- and the debtors and the plan 25 proponents, as well. All of those documents -- those two

1 PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
2 agreements -- documents have been agreed to by all the parties.

3 THE COURT: Okay, now but Ms. Grassgreen, who also had 4 an issue has raised her hand. So --

5 MR. KAROTKIN: That's a different issue.

6 THE COURT: That's a different issue? Okay.

7 MR. KAROTKIN: That's a different issue.

8 THE COURT: Ms. Grassgreen, we'll come back to you in 9 a little while. Well, I see -- yeah, okay.

10 9 Mr. Molton has raised his hand. Mr. Molton, since Mr.
11 Karotkin was answering my question about that, let me have you 12 come in because I considered -- this is a done deal also, if 13 what he says is consistent with what you can confirm, Mr.
14 Molton, and if Ms. Grassgreen, if she needs to be treated 15 separately, I think she made it clear before, it doesn't have to hold up confirmation.

16 16 So Mr. Molton, good morning or good afternoon. Please 17 state your appearance.

18 18 MR. MOLTON: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

19 19 And I know Ms. Grassgreen wanted to confirm this as 20 well when we heard Mr. Karotkin make the point. Yeah, there's 21 one issue unresolved but it doesn't affect confirmation, it 22 doesn't affect the finality of the agreements in substantial 23 part, as Mr. Karotkin mentioned, with all the other objectors, 24 and that's an issue that Your Honor heard about earlier this 25 week from Ms. Grassgreen, and also Mr. Carlson.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1           And Your Honor had taken Ms. Grassgreen's point that 2 it is not a confirmation issue, can be dealt with in a discrete 3 manner next week, and I think Your Honor even made that point 4 that Your Honor has a lot on his plate this week, and would 5 hear it next week. And we propose -- we've talked with Ms.
6 Grassgreen -- Ms. Greengrass (sic), I'm sorry -- and Mr.
7 Carlson --

8           THE COURT: Grassgreen -- no, Grassgreen.

9           MR. MOLTON: Yes. I get it mixed up, I'm sorry to --

10          THE COURT: And she's -- I'm going to bring her into 11 the room. You can look to the -- 12          MR. MOLTON: I'm sorry for that.

13          THE COURT: Yeah.

14          MR. MOLTON: But she -- I call her Debra; that 15 works --

16          THE COURT: No, you can't call her Debra on duty here.

17          MR. MOLTON: I understand, Judge. In any event, so 18 we've been in discussions with her, Judge. We hope to talk 19 about her issues. We're going to be working to discuss them 20 with her, and hopefully not have them be in a position where we 21 need to come and find you.

22          THE COURT: Okay. Again, let me hold you for a 23 minute. Ms. Grassgreen has raised her hand. Ms. Grassgreen, 24 if you want to be heard, we'll bring you in now, but if -- you 25 don't need to come in just to confirm what you just heard, so

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 I'll leave it to you. If your hand is up, we'll bring you in.

2           But Mr. Molton, while Ms. Grassgreen is either coming 3 in or not coming in, can you confirm that the so-called "issue 4 number 2" has been resolved then and --

5           MR. MOLTON: Yes, Your Honor.

6           THE COURT: Okay, great. That's good news. And 7 again, do you understand, Mr. Karotkin, that that's something 8 that -- my commitment to you was to ideally sign an order 9 confirming the plan today, so that doesn't -- that can wait; is 10 that correct, Mr. Karotkin? You've got to unmute. There you 11 go.

12           MR. KAROTKIN: Yeah, I'm sorry. I'm not sure I 13 understand. What can wait?

14           THE COURT: The resolution, or what we would call the 15 trust issue number 2 and 1, I mean, the issues that were -- 16 excuse me, that Mr. MacConaghy, and Mr. Molton were working on.

17           MR. KAROTKIN: Those have been resolved.

18           THE COURT: I know. Will they be incorporated into 19 the OCP today?

20           MR. KAROTKIN: Yeah, to the extent that they're 21 required to be incorporated, they are.

22           THE COURT: Okay. Ms. Grassgreen, good afternoon.

23           MS. GRASSGREEN: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

24           THE COURT: Just state your appearance for the record 25 please.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 MS. GRASSGREEN: Debra Grassgreen on my individual 2 behalf and on behalf of my family, husband and my son. Your 3 Honor can you hear me okay?

4 THE COURT: Yes.

5 MS. GRASSGREEN: Okay.

6 THE COURT: Yes.

7 MS. GRASSGREEN: Your Honor, I just -- I think what we 8 had agreed with the TCC and counsel for the trustee is that we 9 would submit a joint statement next week once the final 10 documents landed. We didn't -- the documents were a moving 11 target, and we would just ask Your Honor today for some time 12 next week, so that you could resolve it at your convenience 13 next week.

14 So I thought it just made sense while we were here, 15 all of us, to try to work out the scheduling matter. If you'd 16 prefer that we do it offline with your clerk, we can do that as 17 well.

18 THE COURT: We have a PG&E calendar next Wednesday, 19 unless -- and if everything goes away, it's there. We also 20 have a PG&E calendar on the 30th. So those are already 21 designated days. I can accommodate you on either of those 22 days, and if necessary, I'll do it separately. I may not treat 23 you to a Zoom treatment if it's a very discrete question, but 24 those dates are both available, and you can just let my 25 courtroom deputy know if you want to get onto have those

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 considered.

2 MS. GRASSGREEN: Thank you very much, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: All right. So, Ms. --

4 MR. MOLTON: Thank you, Judge.

5 THE COURT: All right, thank you. And Mr. Molton, for 6 you, and if Mr. MacConaghy and others are hearing, I want to -- 7 and all the lawyers who are representing the various fire 8 victims, the institutional fire victims, I want to congratulate 9 you for getting that resolved. I appreciate that happening.

10 Okay.

11 MR. MOLTON: Thank you, Judge. There was a lot of 12 hard work that went on the last few days to get there.

13 THE COURT: That's why you get the big bucks, right?
14 Okay. I'm going to take both of you out of the room now.

15 Mr. Karotkin, I'm willing to go to the securities 16 question now unless you want to deal with the committee or OCC 17 issue, it's up to you.

18 MR. KAROTKIN: Why don't you go to the committee's 19 issues, if you don't mind?

20 THE COURT: Okay. Ms. Parada, please bring in Mr.
21 Etkin and Mr. Johnson, I guess.

22 Good afternoon, Mr. Etkin.

23 MR. ETKIN: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

24 THE COURT: State your appearance please. I need your 25 name for the record.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 MR. ETKIN: Of course. I'm sorry, Your Honor.

2 Michael Etkin, Lowenstein Sandler for the Public Employees 3 Retirement Association of New Mexico.

4 THE COURT: Good afternoon.

5 Mr. Johnston, are you with us?

6 MR. JOHNSTON: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

7 Jim Johnston of Jones Day on behalf of the shareholder 8 proponents.

9 THE COURT: Well, you gentlemen fooled me. I turned 10 you loose with our mystery, surprise super mediator, and you 11 settled one thing, but not the thing I thought you'd settle, 12 and didn't settle the other thing, so -- but congratulations to 13 you for getting that resolved.

14 Do I understand from your filings, you're tossing up 15 the open issue for me to decide, right?

16 MR. ETKIN: That's correct, Your Honor. We agreed 17 that with respect to the one discrete issue that remains, that 18 we would submit it to the Court for a decision based upon the 19 papers that are already before the Court --

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. ETKIN: -- and the prior arguments.

22 THE COURT: Mr. Johnston, do you concur with that?

23 MR. JOHNSTON: I concur with that, Your Honor.

24 THE COURT: Okay. Those of you who know me know I 25 love hypotheticals, so I'm going to tell you my ruling, and

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 when you tell me how to answer the following hypothetical. And 2 let's keep in mind something that Mr. Karotkin likes to remind 3 me, that 1124 isn't cited in Section 365, but I'm a fan of 4 1124, and I know the distinction, and you do, between how you 5 figure out a claim on the one hand and how you treat a class of 6 claims on the other. And what's critical for my thinking here 7 is, as I said in my memorandum and having been said in the 8 prior discussions, that -- or maybe I didn't say it in the 9 memorandum and decision because you convinced me to take it 10 out, but one of the open issues is how do we evaluate the claim 11 of any particular claimant before we know the way the 12 treatment?

13 So here we are; I'm going to do it in a hypothetical.
14 I'm going to assume that one fraud claimant under the 15 securities laws has gotten to a point where his or her claim 16 has been liquidated, and I'm fixing it at 1,000 dollars. And 17 let's assume as a result of the formula, that you've agreed to 18 the issue that you mediated -- and again I'm happy that you 19 had; I had my own resolution of it, but you've taken that off 20 the table, but let's assume as a result of that formula, 21 that -- and without regard to any insurance, that claimant 22 would get a hundred shares of the company. And again, you can 23 quarrel with my math, it's hypothetical, but suddenly a 1,000-24 dollar claim becomes 100 shares. And so the question is if the 25 plan becomes effective, and the stock is issued, and that

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 claimant is given his or her hundred shares, the claim has been 2 satisfied, end of story.

3 And so the question is -- and under Ivanhoe, that was 4 all that claim was determined to be worth, and it's been paid 5 in full, and if it were not a 510(b) conversion under this 6 plan, the claimant would get 1,000 dollars, but under this 7 treatment for 510(b), the claimant would get 100 shares -- 8 excuse me, 100 shares.

9 So the question then is, well, what do we do -- and to 10 me, that's faithful to Ivanhoe. Ivanhoe says you've got to get 11 the guy paid in full. Now suppose before there's a conversion 12 of the stock, the insurers -- the insurance company pays the 13 claimant 200 dollars, and the claimant accepts 200 dollars.
14 Now under Ivanhoe, you still have to treat the claim as 1,000 15 but you can't recover more than 1,000. So in fact, that 16 claimant, although still having a claim for 1,000 dollars, is 17 only entitled to 800 dollars, or eighty shares in my 18 calculation.

19 So if our hypothetical claimant's claim was fixed at 20 1,000, and then the conversion said that gets you 100 shares, 21 sir, and he got no money, he'd get 100 shares. If he already 22 got 200 dollars, he'd get 800 shares or excuse me, 80 shares, 23 and it's that simple.

24 And so -- and the reason why Ivanhoe in theory works
25 is because Ivanhoe is a principle of law that says tortfeasors

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 don't get off the hook until their victims are paid in full.
2 But Ivanhoe didn't deal with a solvent company converting money 3 to shares. And so if this plan becomes effective and the 4 claimant gets his hundred shares, there's nothing left to pay 5 him, and if he got paid some money before that, he can't get 6 the full payment of the money because he got -- excuse me, of 7 the shares, because he got the money, it's that simple.

8           So I'm going to tell you that this convinces me that 9 you have to go back in time -- well, excuse me, you have to get 10 to a point where each claimants' claim is liquidated, and if 11 that claimant got any money from an insurance company along the 12 way, then it takes a lesser amount of shares having converted 13 from dollars to pay him in full. More likely than not, it 14 won't happen, and it will become a nonissue because my guess is 15 that, unless there's some insurance payments earlier on the -- 16 the conversion formula will be in place, and all you have to do 17 is to determine what an individual claimant's claim is worth.

18           And so that convinces to me that the company, the 19 shareholder -- excuse me, the proponents, have the better 20 argument here, and you don't reduce the amount a claimant gets 21 in an artificial way if you know that it can never get paid 22 more than he's entitled to.

23           So I said it was a hypothetical, and it's really more 24 my thinking, but that's my hypothetical. So Mr. Etkin, if my 25 hypothetical claimant had a 1,000-dollar claim, and the

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 conversion was ten shares -- excuse me, a hundred shares, I 2 don't know why you ever get to any other result, and he gets to 3 keep whatever money comes out first. After that, he's paid in 4 full in shares.

5 MR. ETKIN: Your Honor, I -- apologies in advance, but 6 I think that that assumes that by virtue of the conversion 7 formula that we've agreed to, that an individual claimant in 8 class 10A-II would be paid in full in connection with whatever 9 they're allowed claim is, but to convert --

10 THE COURT: But that's what they're entitled to. In 11 other words, that's what they're entitled to. If they were 12 getting dollars, they would be paid in dollars in full, and --

13 MR. ETKIN: But the problem --

14 THE COURT: -- they would get, they'd be entitled to 15 whatever the adjudication of their particular claim determines.

16 MR. ETKIN: It's not just a function of the amount of 17 their claim; it's a function of what the distribution under the 18 plan produces in terms of satisfaction of that claim.

19 THE COURT: No, I don't agree with you.

20 MR. ETKIN: So your --

21 THE COURT: See, the reasons I don't agree with you --

22 MR. ETKIN: Your hypothetical -- I'm sorry.

23 THE COURT: -- because you have to determine how much 24 the claim's claim is, and then you just plug in the formula
25 and -- as of the -- it has to be as of the effective date

conversion formula, the diluted stock.

MR. ETKIN: That's right. That's right. So at the end of the day, if a claimant has a claim for 1,000 dollars, once you apply the conversion formula, that claim won't be paid 1,000 dollars' worth of stock, as things currently stand with respect to the formula that's been agreed upon. And that's by virtue of the fact that these are subordinated claims, and not entitled and required to be paid in full; that's why they're impaired under the plan as opposed to unimpaired classes.

Our position, Your Honor, is that we agree with the Court, and consistent with Ivanhoe, that a particular claimant can't receive more than a hundred percent of the amount of their claim. That's clearly what Ivanhoe provides. But --

THE COURT: Okay, but Mr. Etkin, what would happen if one of those claimants settled through an insurance company today and he got paid 200 dollars? What do we do with his claim?

MR. ETKIN: Well, it's --

THE COURT: Under Ivanhoe --

MR. ETKIN: It's the settle --

THE COURT: Under Ivanhoe, we don't reduce his claim, but under Ivanhoe, we don't pay him more than a hundred cents on the dollar either.

MR. ETKIN: Well, that's correct. And if there was a settlement, Your Honor, with respect to -- let's take the

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 directors and officers, for example, based upon the claims, not 2 against the company but against the particular directors and 3 officers, then that amount of money would have to be applied 4 once the claim against the company was liquidated, as you put 5 it, to determine whether the settlement amount, plus whatever 6 is received from the company, exceeds a hundred percent of the 7 allowed claim which was determined in connection with the 8 bankruptcy case because there was no opportunity, in the face 9 of a settlement, to determine what the amount of the claim is, 10 for purposes of the actual damages or loss, because a 11 settlement is exactly that, just a settlement.

12 So you don't ignore the fact that there's been 13 insurance paid, but it doesn't come off the top. It's only 14 there to determine that, at the end of the day, when you factor 15 in that insurance payment, that the claimant, in connection 16 with its liquidated claim against the company, does not get in 17 excess of what that claim comes out to be from a loss or 18 damages or allowance perspective.

19 So I almost think, Your Honor, that we're saying the 20 same thing, in terms of having to take the insurance into 21 account, but not for purposes of just lopping it off -- let me 22 give --

23 THE COURT: But Mr. Etkin -- Mr. Etkin --

24 MR. ETKIN: Let me give you the example you --

25 THE COURT: Mr. Etkin, what would happen, under

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 Ivanhoe, if this was a cash payment, if it wasn't a conversion, 2 and my claimant got 200 dollars? He'd have a claim for 1,000, 3 but he could only recover 800.

4 MR. ETKIN: That's right, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: He couldn't recover more than 1,000. So 6 if he accepts 200 dollars from the insurance company, his 7 maximum recovery from the debtor is 800 dollars. And to me, we 8 don't have the luxury today of knowing what every individual 9 claimant's stock on a conversion fund is worth. We have to do 10 this in reverse. And chances are the particular claimant's 11 amount will be liquidated long after the conversion is in place 12 and the real value. But that's the breaks.

13 This gets back to why this is a treatment of a class 14 problem not a payment of a claim problem. And if you have a 15 claim out there that somebody suffered a million dollars, then 16 that million-dollar claimant will get a lot more stock. And if 17 he takes some money from an insurance company along the way, 18 that's his choice.

19 MR. ETKIN: And he can't recover more than a hundred 20 percent of his claim.

21 THE COURT: Just putting some more zeros on my 22 hypothetical, my --

23 MR. ETKIN: But let me -- but let --

24 THE COURT: -- claimant is owed a million dollars and 25 he gets 200,000 from the insurance company. He's got --

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1                   MR. ETKIN: But for example -- let me give you another 2 hypothetical, Your Honor. Let's say that a claimant -- under 3 the plan proponent's formula, if a claimant got 200 dollars 4 from insurance already, and this of course ignores the fact 5 that at the time the claim is liquidated against the company
6 there may not have been any insurance payment. We don't know 7 what the insurance payment was before. So timing becomes 8 important, and that's what we also tried to point out in the 9 pleading we filed early this morning.

10                  But if the claimant has gotten 200 dollars' worth of 11 insurance, and let's say they have an allowed claim of 1,000 12 dollars, based upon a determination on the merits as to what 13 the value of that claim should be.

14                  THE COURT: Right.

15                  MR. ETKIN: And let's say, which is the facts in this 16 case, that at the end of the day, that claimant, when you apply 17 the formula, is getting stock that's worth less than 800 18 dollars on a 1,000-dollar claim.

19                  THE COURT: But how can that be?

20                  MR. ETKIN: Well, because the conversion formula, Your 21 Honor -- very easily.

22                  THE COURT: But it --

23                  MR. ETKIN: The conversion formula --

24                  THE COURT: But it's a compromise. That's why you 25 compromised it. Mr. Etkin, that's why you compromised it, and

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 you did the right thing because, if you didn't compromise it 2 and I had gone with Mr. Johnston's theory, you know what the 3 formula would be. And if I'd gone with your theory, he knows
4 what the formula would be. You compromised the formula, you 5 compromised the treatment methodology without giving up the 6 right of a particular claim to be stand -- its claim is what it 7 is.

8 MR. ETKIN: No, we didn't compromise the treatment 9 methodology, Your Honor. We compromised the formula for 10 converting a dollar claim into a claim for shares.

11 THE COURT: Well, I think that's a treatment --

12 MR. ETKIN: Under anyone's formula, Your Honor, at the 13 end of the day, if you're multiplying the claim amount by a 14 particular number, it's going to come out to less than payment 15 in full in terms of the value of the stock. And the point I'm 16 trying --

17 THE COURT: I need you -- let's see what Mr. Johnston 18 says. He might think I'm crazy too. But --

19 MR. ETKIN: Well, I don't think you're crazy, Your 20 Honor, by any stretch of the imagination.

21 THE COURT: Mr. Johnston --

22 MR. ETKIN: The only thing that I -- I happen to think 23 that we're saying the same thing but coming out at a different 24 place, and the primary reason for that is that the assumption 25 in your hypothetical is that whatever number of shares that a

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 particular claimant gets at the end of the day, from a value
2 perspective, will amount to a hundred percent of the claim 3 amount. And that's just simply not going to happen. And if 4 that doesn't happen, and if you just assume that that doesn't 5 happen, then taking the insurance off the top is just further 6 diluting the claim if by virtue of the distribution to that 7 claimant through the bankruptcy case, in shares, is not going 8 to pay that claimant in full.

9 THE COURT: Okay. Let's see what Mr. Johnston says, 10 because if I've screwed up the formula, I'll withdraw it.

11 But Mr. Johnston?

12 MR. JOHNSTON: Your Honor, under your hypothetical, 13 you got it exactly right. The plan formula would deliver 14 eighty shares to your hypothetical claimant. And so we clearly 15 think that is the appropriate result. I can go into all of the 16 reasons why but --

17 THE COURT: Well, Mr. Johnston --

18 MR. JOHNSTON: -- Your Honor is exactly right.

19 THE COURT: -- instead of saying it's right, tell me 20 whether the methodology is right. In other words, if we knew 21 today that a claimant's claim was 1,000 dollars, under a 22 conversion formula that you negotiated, the 1,000 is 23 hypothetical. It is what it is based upon the different days 24 that you put into your settlement, right?

25 MR. JOHNSTON: That's correct.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1                   THE COURT: You have four different -- you had one 2 date in October of 2017. Mr. Etkin had one day two weeks after 3 the Camp Fire. You compromised in, as I read it, four 4 different milestones because the circumstances changed for 5 different investors at different times with different knowledge 6 of the market.

7                   MR. JOHNSTON: That's exactly what we did.

8                   THE COURT: Yeah. Mr. Etkin, I'm going to stick with 9 my ruling, to the extent it was a ruling. If you think you and 10 I are saying the same thing, you haven't persuaded me that I 11 should change the result. So how would you articulate the 12 ruling, if you were in my position, given what you've just 13 said, that we are saying the same thing?

14                  MR. ETKIN: We are saying the same thing, but the plan 15 proponent's definition of insurance deduction doesn't lead to 16 that result. It --

17                  THE COURT: Well, but I have to tell you, here's what 18 is different. See, I really didn't think you were going to 19 settle this issue. I thought you were going to settle the 20 other issue and not leave for me what you left for me. And so 21 I started to think about it, and I had in my mind and literally 22 had drafted how I was going to figure out what I thought was a 23 fair outcome. Based upon the Etkin theory, originally it was 24 petition date, and the Johnston theory, initially, and probably 25 still is, October 12th, 2017.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1           And I had tentatively come to a conclusion on how I 2 was going to resolve that. But you folks resolved it, and 3 therefore I'm not going there. So you left me the way to make 4 it implemented, and this is the way I believe I have to do it 5 because, to me -- I'll tell you what I'm saying. It's almost 6 that Ivanhoe dealt with dollars for dollars, and 510(b), in my 7 research, said -- I think that Superior case from Texas was the 8 only case that even comes close -- Superior Refinery, or 9 whatever it was. And that one kicked the can. It didn't solve 10 the problem; it just said -- the Court said, well, they didn't 11 figure out the solution here, but that's okay, we can still 12 confirm the plan.

13           Here we had to figure out a solution, and you and your 14 clients did the right thing, in my mind, by coming up with a 15 compromise of how you do it based upon the real world, that 16 several times, over the span of October 2017 to November of 17 2018, and the market going from seventy to whatever -- eight or 18 whatever it was.

19           And so I just couldn't take the Ivanhoe formula and 20 apply it knowing that, A, first of all, there maybe never will 21 be insurance payments. Secondly, if a claimant wants to accept 22 an insurance settlement in some amount, they can do it. They 23 won't get it in stock; they'll get it in dollars. And 24 consistent with the concept of Ivanhoe, they can't get 25 overpaid.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1                   So anyway, look, Mr. Etkin, I had to decide it one way 2 or the other. This was my thinking. I'm going to assume that 3 this can be done in some sort of a stipulate -- if not 4 stipulated at least an adjudicated order. I don't think 5 it's -- from what you said before, Mr. Etkin, it's not a 6 confirmation issue, per se. And you made it clear before that 7 you weren't trying to oppose confirmation, so I expect to be 8 able to -- even if you're unhappy with this outcome that the 9 confirmation order can stand without being challenged.

10                  But again, Mr. Johnston, how would you like to 11 implement this?

12                  MR. JOHNSTON: Well, Your Honor, we have implemented 13 this by putting in to the amended plan, or the draft amended 14 plan that was filed shortly before the hearing and the draft 15 amended confirmation order which was filed at the same time, 16 the language that we appended to Exhibit A to the pleading we 17 put in yesterday. So in our mind, the resolution of the 18 objection is contained in that amended language.

19                  THE COURT: Okay. Well, let me tell you that I think 20 what you filed this morning -- oh, no, I see -- whenever you 21 filed it; things are moving very quickly. And as I said, I was 22 surprised, I was happy to hear that you had a resolution, but I 23 was surprised that you resolved the thing I didn't expect you 24 to resolve. So I had to do a little quick thinking to be able 25 to come up with my response here today. And therefore I'll

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 leave it to you to implement it in a way that you think is 2 appropriate.

3 MR. ETKIN: Well --

4 MR. JOHNSTON: Thank you, Your Honor.

5 MR. ETKIN: -- Your Honor, there is -- if I may?

6 THE COURT: Yes, sir.

7 MR. ETKIN: There is one other aspect of this that we 8 did raise in what we filed this morning that came up only 9 because of the new language that was drafted by the plan 10 proponents. And that's the definition of Side A policy, that 11 they've come up with and incorporated into the plan, that we 12 also had a problem with. And I'll make it very simple, Your 13 Honor.

14 THE COURT: I wasn't even able to look at what you 15 filed this morning. I thought I looked at everything that came 16 in from everybody, but I didn't get that one, so --

17 MR. ETKIN: Well, that's a shame, Your Honor, because 18 it obviously touched upon the issue that we just spent the last 19 twenty or so minutes talking about.

20 But the other issue is the issue of the definition 21 that the plan proponents have provided for Side A policy. And 22 our position was very simple with respect to that. Our 23 position was that Side A policy and what it means is set forth 24 specifically in the insurance policy itself. It can't be 25 redefined through a separate provision in the plan.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1           And in fact there's a provision in the plan regarding 2 insurance policies that says -- and it's 8.7 of the plan -- 3 that say that those policies have been assumed and the terms of 4 those plans apply, and the terms of those plans are what they 5 are. And we agree with that. We agree with the plan language.
6 And we don't agree with any attempt to rejigger that language 7 through a separate definitional section that the plan 8 proponents have come up with for purposes of the plan.

9           THE COURT: Mr. Etkin, let me correct one-half of what 10 I said. I was aware that you filed a notice of withdrawal.
11 And when I looked at the notice of withdrawal that you did file 12 at about 5 o'clock this morning -- I wasn't up reading it -- I 13 noticed that there was some language and reference to the 14 language of the policies, and I just set it aside. I had 15 plenty of other things to do, including another calendar on 16 another matter this morning.

17           So Mr. Johnston, can we not pick this up later? This 18 doesn't have to be --

19           MR. JOHNSTON: Well, Your Honor, this is part of the 20 plan. This goes into the plan formula. The definition of Side 21 A is an accurate recitation of what the Side A policy says.
22 The PERA responses yesterday or this morning said we should 23 refer to the definition of Side A coverage in the policy.
24 There is no definition of Side A coverage in the policy. And 25 if you look at what they cited you to, you will see that. The

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 provision of the policy they cited to is the actual operating 2 coverage language for Side A. So the language we put forward, 3 which they haven't objected to in any substantive way, is what 4 Side A says, and we believe that it's appropriate.

5 THE COURT: Well, I'm not going to -- look, Mr. Etkin 6 shouldn't be punished for compromising something and then 7 having me, twelve hours later, giving him a bad result on a 8 ruling that I made that he'd offered to submit to me and then 9 say, well, I'm sorry, I haven't had a chance even to look at 10 this.

11 I'm going to run the risk here that I can sign an 12 order confirming the plan as effective and there can be some 13 subsequent agreement of clarification on how these formulas 14 should work, I think. I mean, I don't want to delay confirming 15 the plan, but I'm not going to run the brush out over Mr.
16 Etkin's client's rights, particularly when he withdrew his 17 objection.

18 So I'd like you to come up with a way to let this ship 19 leave the dock with the Court confirming the plan but, if 20 necessary, let me try to clarify something, if there's a reason 21 to. I don't know; you may be right, Mr. Johnston. And clearly 22 you can't create something that isn't consistent with the 23 operative documents. But I just haven't had a moment to think 24 about it.

25 MR. KAROTKIN: Your Honor?

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 THE COURT: Yes.

2 MR. KAROTKIN: I'll try to address it. In order to 3 confirm the plan, you have to make the findings under 4 1129(a) --

5 THE COURT: Right.

6 MR. KAROTKIN: -- or 1129(b).

7 THE COURT: Which I did.

8 MR. KAROTKIN: Not with respect to this particular 9 class because they voted to reject the plan.

10 THE COURT: Well, but I can --

11 MR. KAROTKIN: I don't --

12 THE COURT: -- make an oral ruling that the plan 13 treats the equitably and fairly, I mean, consistent with 14 1129(a) and (b), fair and equitable.

15 MR. KAROTKIN: You can make that determination based 16 on the proposed treatment that will be set forth in the plan, 17 as Mr. Johnston indicated.

18 THE COURT: I know.

19 MR. KAROTKIN: But I don't --

20 THE COURT: I tried --

21 MR. KAROTKIN: I don't know how else to address it and 22 enter a confirmation order. Let me try to make a suggestion, 23 Your Honor, because I agree with the fact that we agreed to 24 submit this issue, this discrete issue, regarding the insurance 25 deduction.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 THE COURT: Right.

2 MR. KAROTKIN: That's it. That's all that's --

3 THE COURT: Right.

4 MR. KAROTKIN: That's all that's sitting out there.

5 Not the formula; that's done. It's just a function of how you 6 treat receipt of insurance proceeds.

7 THE COURT: Right.

8 MR. KAROTKIN: This plan is not going to rise or fall 9 with respect to a determination of that issue, especially when 10 the parties have agreed to submit it to Your Honor. And I 11 think it's a little unfair to the Court to indicate that, in 12 the wake of that, that you can't confirm the plan without 13 getting this discrete issue resolved when I think that that has 14 not been the assumption that has been made.

15 But leaving that aside, I believe that the Court can 16 confirm the plan. We've withdrawn our objection as it relates 17 to cramdown. That was the deal that we made, and we're 18 standing by that deal. So you no longer have an objection with 19 respect to cramdown as to the only nonconsenting class. So the 20 plan can in fact be confirmed. And to push the Court to render 21 a decision on that discrete issue, in the guise of you not 22 being able to confirm this plan without it, I just don't think 23 that that's appropriate, I don't think it's true, and I don't 24 think it's fair.

25 The Court will decide what the appropriate insurance

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 deduction is. Whatever happens there, we'll deal with that, 2 one way or another, but that's certainly not a condition to 3 confirmation that I've seen. And in keeping with the Court's 4 desire to give everybody their fair chance, while at the same 5 time making sure that January 30th is dealt with --

6 THE COURT: June 30th.

7 MR. KAROTKIN: June 30th, rather, is dealt with, you 8 know, I don't see any conflict there with what the Court has 9 suggested in getting all of that done.

10 MR. JOHNSTON: Your Honor, Jim Johnston again. First 11 of all, I thought you did decide the insurance deduction issue.
12 That's not an issue to be punted. That is part and parcel of 13 the treatment of these claims and part and parcel of the plan.
14 I thought we were talking about the discrete definition of Side 15 A policy that we proposed and that is now incorporated in the 16 plan. That's not a surprise. That simply embodies the 17 concession I made to Your Honor last time we argued this, a 18 week or so ago, probably more than a week ago. So this is not 19 an issue to be kicked down the road any further. This is a 20 confirmation issue that involves the treatment of Class 10A-II.
21 The insurance deduction is part and parcel of that treatment, 22 and I don't see how it can be set aside.

23 THE COURT: Mr. Johnston, I've got a million things on 24 my table here. Where do I look at the language? Is it in the 25 supplement to the plan? Where is this?

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 MR. JOHNSTON: Do you have what we filed last night?

2 THE COURT: I think so.

3 MR. JOHNSTON: I can point you specifically to it.

4 THE COURT: Document 8016?

5 MR. JOHNSTON: Yes.

6 THE COURT: Okay. I do.

7 MR. JOHNSTON: If you look at Exhibit A to that 8 document, I think it's on about the fifth page of the document.

9 THE COURT: I've got it. I mean, I --

10 MR. JOHNSTON: It's three-quarters of --

11 THE COURT: That just --

12 MR. JOHNSTON: Three-quarters of the way down, you see 13 the definition of Side A policy?

14 THE COURT: I see the new definition disputed by PERA, 15 insurance deduction.

16 MR. JOHNSTON: And then below that.

17 THE COURT: The next one, okay, Side A policy.

19 THE COURT: Okay, yes.

20 MR. JOHNSTON: That's what we're talking about.

21 THE COURT: Well, but does it identify a particular 22 policy or group of policies?

23 MR. JOHNSTON: Well --

24 THE COURT: In other words, it's a very fancy title, 25 but it doesn't name specifically what operates.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1                   MR. JOHNSTON: No, clearly the language does not 2 identify a specific policy or group of policies.

3                   THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Etkin, what is wrong with the 4 definition that is identified? And I have it right in front of 5 me, so what do you find troublesome about the definition? It 6 does cover the universe, doesn't it, of what we've generally 7 been calling the Side A policies throughout this case?

8                   MR. ETKIN: Well, Your Honor, if you look at footnote 9 2 of our submission, which is on page --

10                  THE COURT: Yes.

11                  MR. ETKIN: And we did attach the policy.

12                  THE COURT: I've got it.

13                  MR. ETKIN: We attached --

14                  THE COURT: I've got it.

15                  MR. ETKIN: We did attached the primary policy for the 16 Court's convenience.

17                  THE COURT: I know, but I couldn't look at those.

18                  MR. ETKIN: I understand. I understand. But in our 19 footnote 2, which is on page 3 of 59, we identify the 20 provisions of the actual policy that define what Side A 21 coverage is. And the policy governs. Whatever the language of 22 the policy is, as it relates to the applicability of Side A 23 coverage, when it kicks in, when it doesn't kick in, and the 24 terms with respect to the availability of that coverage, that's 25 defined by the policy.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1           And if we then take a look, Your Honor, at Section 8.7 2 of the plan, it says that "all insurance policies, including 3 all D&O liability insurance policies", et cetera, "to which any 4 debtor is a party, as of the effective date, shall be deemed to 5 be and treated as executory contracts and shall be assumed by 6 the applicable debtors or reorganized debtors and shall 7 continue in full force and effect thereafter in accordance with 8 their respective terms".

9           So Your Honor, the language that they provided in 10 their definition of Side A policy, which is the same thing as 11 Side A coverage -- there isn't a separate Side A insurance 12 policy; it's Side A coverage under the D&O insurance policy -- 13 that says what it says and provides what it provides. And an 14 attempt to wordsmith it or indicate how and when it pops into 15 effect is inappropriate where the policy has been assumed and 16 the terms and conditions of that policy are what they are, 17 including what Side A coverage is, which is contrary to what 18 Mr. Johnston indicated, which is set forth specifically in 19 those provisions that we reference in our footnote 2.

20           THE COURT: My problem is that I can't --

21           MR. JOHNSTON: Your Honor, I don't --

22           THE COURT: I mean, you can only assume what you can 23 assume, and so why is the definition different from what is 24 actually being assumed, Mr. Johnston?

25           MR. JOHNSTON: It's not, Your Honor. This is a

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 description of that coverage. And I have not heard from Mr.
2 Etkin a single word in that definition that's inaccurate.

3 THE COURT: Well, why can't we incorporate his 4 footnote 2 into your new definition?

5 MR. JOHNSTON: Well, his footnote 2 refers to one 6 policy, and it says that we're supposed to incorporate the 7 definition of that coverage when there is no definition. What 8 he is citing you to is an operative provision of an insurance 9 policy that describes coverage, not a definition.

10 MR. ETKIN: That's what Side A coverage is, Your 11 Honor.

12 THE COURT: Is this really --

13 MR. ETKIN: So why can't it be -- why can't the 14 language be, or why can't you add to that language, "consistent 15 with the terms and conditions of the relevant policies"?

16 THE COURT: It --

17 MR. ETKIN: Or is Mr. Johnston afraid of that? I 18 don't know.

19 THE COURT: Well, Mr. Johnston, is it --

20 MR. JOHNSTON: We can add that language if it makes 21 this issue go away.

22 THE COURT: Well, let's agree that you shouldn't be 23 importing into a definition something that doesn't exist out 24 there in a policy. And if there's a policy out there that 25 covers something that isn't operative within the scope of 8.7

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 then you shouldn't be adding it. And so, in effect, Mr.
2 Johnston, if you're conceding that a Side A policy means all
3 the policies that have things that are generally known as Side 4 A in the trade, then that's what we're describing. It's 5 consistent.

6 MR. JOHNSTON: That's what we're describing, Your 7 Honor, yes.

8 THE COURT: Then go with the add-on that Mr. Etkin 9 suggested.

10 MR. JOHNSTON: Okay. We can make that change.

11 THE COURT: Give him the words. Mr. Etkin, listen to 12 what the words are going to read again. Say it again, please, 13 Mr. Johnston?

14 MR. JOHNSTON: I think the proposal was to add at the 15 end a comma, "consistent with the terms and conditions of the 16 applicable policy".

17 THE COURT: I think that's about what you said, Mr.
18 Etkin.

19 MR. ETKIN: I think that's about what I said, Your 20 Honor.

21 THE COURT: I still have a sense that this is angels 22 on a pin, to some extent, because it's hard for me to imagine 23 that this is ever really going to make a difference because the 24 company is going to indemnify all of its officers and directors 25 anyway. But I'll leave that for another day.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1                   Thank you for resolving two of the issues out of 2 three, leaving me the third one.

3                   I'm sorry, Mr. Etkin, if I came out the wrong side on 4 your end, but I appreciate your efforts and what you've done.
5 And so I'm going to consider this a closed issue and 6 congratulate you and Mr. Johnston and your clients and Judge 7 Newsome for helping us get this one under the wraps too, or --

8                   MR. KAROTKIN: Your Honor, so --

9                   THE COURT: -- solve the problems.

10                  MR. KAROTKIN: So --

11                  MR. JOHNSTON: Thank you, Your Honor.

12                  MR. KAROTKIN: So things are absolutely clear, the 13 plan has been modified to include this provision for the 14 treatment of the HoldCo rescission and damage claims. We will 15 modify the definition of the Side A in the plan to reflect 16 that. And that will be the proposed treatment in the plan.
17 And consistent with that, and I believe consistent with what's 18 happened today, there will be an order paragraph, in the 19 proposed order, that says that the treatment of that class, in 20 so many words, complies with 1129(b).

21                  THE COURT: Well, I'll say it again -- Mr. Etkin said 22 it. He conceded the point because he agreed to it. And so the 23 oral record, the order, and my memorandum decision in effect 24 said it already, that -- this gets back to treatment. Again, 25 it's relevant to the issue of I'm not determining the amount of

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 any particular claimant's claim. I'm approving as fair and 2 equitable, and satisfying 1129(b) cram down, the treatment of 3 this class, fair and equitably, nondiscriminatorily, consistent 4 with everything that we've talked about completing. Okay?

5 MR. ETKIN: Your Honor, just one last housekeeping 6 thing?

7 THE COURT: Yes, sir.

8 MR. ETKIN: The revised proposed order and plan were 9 filed minutes before this hearing began. And we would just 10 like the opportunity to be able to take a look at it.

11 THE COURT: Well, you have an opportunity. Mr. Etkin, 12 I have to trust counsel, principal counsel, and I do trust 13 them. I trust all the counsel in this case, but if something 14 goes awry, and I sign an order confirming a plan today, and 15 tomorrow or the next day it comes to light that somebody either 16 intentionally or unintentionally mixed up and acted 17 inconsistently, I have the ability to modify those things on a 18 proper record. I'm hoping it won't happen.

19 So everybody's been moving quickly. And I committed 20 to it, and Mr. Karotkin did, and Mr. Johnston did, and I look 21 for you to do it too. So do your best and take a look at what 22 he said, and certainly the record reflects what Mr. Johnston 23 offered and you heard me say.

24 MR. JOHNSTON: And Your Honor, I can confirm at least 25 the draft that I saw, kind of, immediately before the plan and

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 confirmation order were filed, contains the language that's set
2 forth on Exhibit A to our filing last night --

3 THE COURT: Okay.

4 MR. JOHNSTON: -- verbatim.

5 THE COURT: Okay.

6 MR. JOHNSTON: Thank you.

7 THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Etkin, I appreciate your 8 efforts, and Mr. Johnston. I'm going to excuse you both now 9 because we've got the remaining issue, I think, with the 10 creditors' committee. All right. Thank you.

11 Mr. Karotkin, while -- I guess we're going to bring 12 Mr. Bray in, and I don't know if the -- let me just check and 13 see if anybody has put up a hand. No, I don't know -- I guess 14 Mr. Bray is coming in. And I don't know if any -- Mr. Julian 15 or Mr. Richardson wanted to, but they don't need to unless they 16 choose to.

17 So Ms. Parada, are you finding Mr. Bray? Is he on 18 your list?

19 THE CLERK: Yes, Your Honor. Mr. Bray is joining in 20 now.

21 THE COURT: So Mr. Karotkin, while Mr. Bray is 22 checking in with us, I have to digress and tell you something 23 that I didn't know the other day. I'll let --

24 Oh, good afternoon, Mr. Bray. Just state your 25 appearance.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1                   MR. BRAY: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Gregory Bray, 2 Milbank LLP, counsel for the unsecured creditors' committee.

3                   THE COURT: So Mr. Karotkin, the other day when you
4 were citing Arriva, the name didn't mean much to me because I
5 just didn't recognize it. And now of course you take issue 6 with my conflating Section 365 with 1124, and I will agree with 7 you that they don't mention each other, but the concepts are 8 pretty much obvious because 1123 says you can have a plan that 9 assumes an executory contract consistent with 365, and the 10 notion of a plan that doesn't cure a default wouldn't pass 11 muster under 365, and it wouldn't pass muster as part of 12 confirmation.

13                  And it's true, an executory contract being assumed 14 isn't treated as an impaired claim, but you cited Arriva. So I 15 went back, and something rang a bell with Arriva. And so what 16 I'm going to tell you is just a story that in about -- you'll 17 see the Arriva decision was decided by colleague, Judge Jellen
18 in April. Earlier that year, I got recruited to be a mediator 19 or settlement judge in that case. And I spent a long time with 20 the litigants in that case, the very people who are named in 21 the case and, unhappily, didn't bring about a consensual 22 resolution. Thus, Judge Jellen wrote the decision.

23                  And briefly, I saw him or talked to him after he 24 issued it, and I said, you know, I tried to get that case
25 settled, and I think your decision is wrong. So I've disagreed

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 with my colleague, Judge Jellen, for years about Arriva. But 2 the principle, I think, is still valid, and I'm not going to 3 change any outcome.

4 And let's hear from Mr. Bray as to what issue is still 5 alive, because your proposal, Mr. Karotkin, I think, is 6 persuasive, but I want to hear what the committee says.

7 MR. BRAY: Yes, thank you, Your Honor. On the first 8 issue, the 8.2 paragraph 34(d) of the confirmation order, the 9 debtors' submission closed the issues significantly. Really 10 the only area of disagreement is whether or not the term 11 "nonmonetary" should be in the discussion of Section 8.2E.
12 Otherwise, our submission and the debtors' proposed submission 13 are essentially the same.

14 THE COURT: Well, this gets back --

15 MR. BRAY: But --

16 THE COURT: This gets back to the whole point, my 17 thinking about 1124. And what threw me for a loop here was 18 that Mr. Karotkin correctly cites Section 365 in what he filed 19 this morning, but 365 says "such default", it doesn't say 20 "monetary default". And then when you read further, you'll see 21 that certain nonmonetary defaults can be dealt with. But if 22 you go to the debtors' plan, and this is --

23 MR. BRAY: Yes.

24 THE COURT: -- where I looked at Section 8.2A, 8.2A --

25 MR. BRAY: 8.2A, Your Honor, yes. Yes.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 THE COURT: Huh? 8 --

2 MR. BRAY: In 8.1A they only say they're curing 3 monetary defaults.

4 THE COURT: It doesn't use the nonmonetary. So --

5 MR. BRAY: That's right.

6 THE COURT: So the plan seemed a little unfaithful to 7 the statute.

8 MR. BRAY: I agree.

9 THE COURT: And Mr. Karotkin, that was the concern I 10 had. So it gets back to, of course 1124 doesn't apply, 11 technically. But given L & J Anaheim in this circuit, to me, 12 you have to be consistent, particularly when you have an 13 executory contract assumption as part of a plan. A standalone 14 365 motion maybe you get away with. But the plan says you've 15 got to cure a default. 1124 says you've got to cure defaults.
16 Excuse me, and 365 says it.

17 So how do we fix this, Mr. Bray, by picking 18 nonmonetary defaults that can be dealt with the way the statute 19 says they can be dealt with. It can be dealt with --

20 MR. BRAY: Your Honor --

21 THE COURT: -- in some other form.

22 MR. BRAY: -- there are a two -- or a couple of fixes 23 here. One of them is to fix 8.1A, say that they'll also cure 24 the nonmonetary defaults that they're supposed to cure under 25 the Code.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 THE COURT: That they can --

2 MR. BRAY: And then --

3 THE COURT: That the Code requires it, they can, yes.

4 MR. BRAY: Exactly, that they're required to cure.

5 And then you could go with the language as it is, or as the 6 debtor proposed it. The other option is to just simply strike 7 "monetary" or "nonmonetary" from the debtors' submission or 8 proposed language and just say "defaults". That still doesn't 9 cleanly resolve the issue, but it also resolves the ambiguity 10 because they're only referencing monetary defaults in 8.1A, 11 therefore the logical interpretation of 8.2E would be that it's 12 only the defaults that they cured.

13 Either one of those is satisfactory to us, Your Honor.
14 We're not -- we don't want this to become a relitigation of 15 issues you put to bed in your decision. We're really trying, 16 at this point, to be constructive on this issue and to just 17 have an unambiguous statement with respect to 365 and 18 assumption and cure. And we appreciate the debtor having made 19 a movement on this. The issue is pretty narrow at this point.
20 Either of those fixes are fine with us, Your Honor, and then we 21 can talk about the fire claim whenever you like.

22 THE COURT: Mr. Karotkin, what's your choice? You've 23 got two choices; which one would you like?

24 MR. KAROTKIN: I think -- I'm not sure I understand 25 the first choice.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 THE COURT: Well, you would expand 8.1 --

2 MR. BRAY: 1A.

3 THE COURT: -- 1A to include nonmonetary defaults.

4 MR. BRAY: That are required to be cured under the 5 Code.

6 THE COURT: Well, yes, of course. You can't -- the 7 Code gives you -- the trustee, a right to avoid certain --

8 MR. BRAY: Correct.

9 THE COURT: It's a very narrow band of nonmonetaries.

10 MR. BRAY: Agreed.

11 THE COURT: I mean, again, Mr. Karotkin, this is why I 12 got so focused on this because it seemed to me that, whether it 13 was intentional or not -- I'm not going to get into that, you 14 have to be faithful to what 1124 would require if this were 15 governed some other way. And even apart from 1124, it's got to 16 be consistent with 365. And --

17 MR. KAROTKIN: Well, Your Honor, I don't, frankly, 18 think 1124 applies here at all.

19 THE COURT: I know you don't.

20 MR. KAROTKIN: And I know you disagree with me, but I 21 don't, frankly, see how reinstatement or unimpairment have 22 anything to do with the assumption of an executory contract.

23 THE COURT: I just said -- I said it's the concept.
24 It's the concept. You cannot -- and I'm not -- I concede the 25 point that you measure performance under 365. But it is so

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 parallel to the concept of 1124.

2 But it doesn't matter. Why not just go with the 3 nonmonetary defaults, the way Mr. Bray suggests, except those 4 that are not required? Again, I feel like we're talking about 5 angels on a pin here.

6 MR. KAROTKIN: More than likely. I think what I would 7 like to do -- I don't want to impose on people. I would like 8 to take a ten-minute recess to discuss it with my co-plan 9 proponents to see what we would agree to, if I could indulge 10 the Court.

11 THE COURT: Okay. Well, what about fire plan? Are we 12 settled on fire plan, Mr. Bray?

13 We'll take a ten-minute recess in a minute, Mr.
14 Karotkin, because this might be our last issue.

15 MR. KAROTKIN: Yes.

16 MR. BRAY: On the fire claim, Your Honor, again, I 17 understand that there is -- I understand the logic of drafting 18 into the order your statement on this. My concern is you also 19 said -- I reread your statement or part of your decision on 20 this several times -- that, and I'm just -- what you said 21 was -- I'm sorry; I've got to find it here. "The Court agrees 22 with the debtors, but it is best to avoid ambiguity before the 23 problem arises".

24 The part of the definition that continues to trouble 25 is the phrase, and I quote: "in any way arising out of the

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 fires". That very broad statement could be interpreted to 2 mean, if you have a contractual claim, that basically it is 3 channeled and it somehow has something to do with a fire, it's 4 channeled into the trust, even though you're not a fire victim
5 and you were in the general GUC class of claims.

6 So in our submission, Your Honor, that's the issue
7 we're trying to clarify. And I'm trying to do it consistently 8 with what you said in your decision to avoid unnecessary 9 ambiguity before a problem arises. I don't know how else to 10 say it. We submitted some language to you on this. It's --

11 THE COURT: Well, Mr. Bray, what about --

12 MR. BRAY: -- pretty straightforward.

13 THE COURT: What about the fourth line of the proposed 14 language in the debtors' document 8020, page -- I forgot what 15 page it is, 6, I believe. They quote -- they said here's a 16 provision they're going to put in the confirmation order that 17 tracks my decision. That, to me, seemed right on -- 18 MR. BRAY: Right, but it's right from your decision.

19 The issue is --

20 MR. KAROTKIN: It's right from your decision.

21 THE COURT: Yeah.

22 MR. KAROTKIN: You said -- I mean, you said the 23 definition was clear. What Mr. Bray's raising is -- with 24 respect to a defined term that has been in the plan since day 25 one, negotiated, all of a sudden, he wants to pre-legislate how

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 that turns out in a particular situation. This may never come
2 up, and we -- I've said this before. It ought to be addressed 3 in the context of a real live dispute --

4 THE COURT: That's why I --

5 MR. KAROTKIN: -- rather than --

6 THE COURT: That's why I liked your language.

7 MR. KAROTKIN: Okay. And that's why we liked your 8 language. And I think that this addresses the issue. At 9 least, Your Honor, you and I are in agreement on this. And --

10 THE COURT: I mean, I guess the --

11 MR. KAROTKIN: -- and what Mr. Bray's trying to do --

12 THE COURT: -- there might be a -- there might be a 13 fire victim out there who also is a counterparty to a contract 14 the debtor seeks to assume. But it just seems so unlikely, and 15 I -- although I do recognize and recall several of the lawyers 16 or various counterparties arguing about the confusion about it.
17 And all I was trying to do was to separate out the concept of 18 who is harmed by a fire and who is affected by an operation of 19 this strange animal in bankruptcy called assume a contract.

20 And they're two -- they're com -- they're apples and 21 oranges, for the most part. You can have the same person who's 22 in both categories, but that's a rarity.

23 MR. BRAY: Your Honor, I agree with that -- with the 24 clarification you've just made. We'll submit on the issue.

25 THE COURT: Okay.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 MR. BRAY: That's fine.

2 THE COURT: Mr. Karotkin, you got your language.

3 MR. KAROTKIN: Okay. Thank you.

4 THE COURT: All we have left is the issue of 5 nonmonetary default. If you want to recess, we can do it. But 6 we don't have much else to do, other than to --

7 MR. KAROTKIN: No, I don't think we have anything else 8 to do after that, unless someone's raising their hand.

9 THE COURT: Mr. Pascuzzi, Mr. Troy, they had actually 10 asked to be heard before -- and Mr. Abrams. I may let Mr.
11 Abrams in, but I'll call Mr. -- or ask Mr. -- Ms. Parada to 12 bring Mr. Pascuzzi and Mr. Troy in. They -- they're probably 13 related to this issue.

14 And by -- while we're doing that, Mr. Karotkin, unless 15 Mr. Pascuzzi or Mr. Troy have a different take on this, rather 16 than take a recess, I'd be more inclined to tell you that I'll 17 go -- I believe what -- Mr. Bray offered two alternatives. You 18 can just pick the one you like. I'm going to stick with one or 19 the other, because I think the absence of the nonmonetary 20 portion of the default is something that has to be fixed. And 21 he and I are offering you the way -- either way you want to fix 22 it.

23 MR. KAROTKIN: I appreciate that, Your Honor, but I 24 think -- I would prefer a recess so that when we come back, we 25 can actually get the exact words and there's no

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 misunderstanding. If you don't mind.

2 Your Honor, can you hear us?

3 MR. BRAY: I don't see him on the screen, either.

4 MR. KAROTKIN: He's frozen on my --

5 THE CLERK: It sounds --

6 MR. KAROTKIN: -- screen.

7 THE CLERK: -- like he's frozen. One moment while I 8 check in with Judge Montali.

9 THE COURT: And take advantage of your ten-minute
10 recess. But I -- poor Mr. Pascuzzi and Mr. Troy were stranded 11 there.

12 Okay. Mr. Pascuzzi, state your appearance, please.
13 And sorry for the delay.

14 MR. PASCUZZI: Thank you, Your Honor. Paul Pascuzzi
15 for the California state agencies.

16 Your Honor, our issue has to do with -- not 8.2(e), 17 but it does have to do with executory contracts and a provision 18 in the confirmation order, specifically paragraph 67(d), as in 19 Dog. And there's a provision in there that is unique to 20 governmental units that the debtors added. If you recall, the 21 issues regarding cure and executory contract are put off, 22 basically, until after confirmation.

23 And that's all fine, but the debtors have added 24 something in the last sentence of 67(d) that requires 25 governmental units, such as Mr. Troy's clients and my clients,

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 to file something with the Court if -- within ninety days of 2 the confirmation date. Nobody else has to do that. All of the 3 other parties are governed by 34(a) and (b), which is fine, and 4 everybody's rights are preserved.

5 So we are objecting to the last sentence of 67(d), 6 which puts a special burden and may attempt to shift the burden 7 on us with regard to executory contracts.

8 THE COURT: Okay.

9 MR. PASCUZZI: We had asked the debtors to take this 10 out, but they apparently decided not to, because it's still in 11 there.

12 THE COURT: Are you looking at -- what's the date of 13 the filing of that version? Because I don't have the most 14 recent one. I have the June 14th --

15 MR. KAROTKIN: It's not new. It's not new.

16 MR. PASCUZZI: It's -- it was in there before, Your 17 Honor. It should --

18 THE COURT: Okay.

19 MR. PASCUZZI: -- still be in there.

20 THE COURT: So I -- in document 7938-1?

21 MR. PASCUZZI: We've been asking them to take it out 22 for a while, so --

23 THE COURT: Okay. One second.

24 One second, because I haven't had occasion to read 25 this.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1               Okay. Mr. Karotkin, why -- what does this add to 2 the -- and Mr. Troy, are you -- before you -- Mr. Karotkin, 3 before you speak, let Mr. Troy -- why don't you unmute and 4 state your appearance also?

5               MR. TROY: Thank you, Your Honor. Matthew Troy, U.S.
6 Department of Justice - Civil Division, on behalf of --

7               THE COURT: Okay.

8               MR. TROY: -- various government agencies.

9               THE COURT: Mr. Karotkin, why do you need this guy in 10 there?

11              MR. KAROTKIN: Well, I mean, Mr. Pascuzzi makes it 12 sound like this is worse than everybody who has an executory 13 contract, when, in fact, it's better. We gave them an 14 additional ninety days to come back to us with their cure 15 amounts. And essentially, what they're saying is, well, as to 16 the government and as to the state government, they never have 17 to do that.

18              So we're out there in limbo at their pleasure. And 19 when they feel like coming back to us and telling us something, 20 well, that's fine. I mean -- but that's not fine. We're 21 entitled to know what defaults there are under these contracts.
22 Everybody else was required to come forward with their cure 23 amounts.

24              THE COURT: Okay. Just --

25              MR. KAROTKIN: We gave the government an extra ninety

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 days.

2 THE COURT: Because I'm overloading -- my Wi-Fi and my 3 brain are overloading here, almost, tell me how this actually 4 works. If the plan were confirmed today and Mr. Pascuzzi has 5 an agency that has a contract being assumed, what happens under 6 your proposal? They have ninety days to do what? What happens 7 then?

8 MR. KAROTKIN: Well, they have ninety days to serve an 9 objection setting forth the dispute with respect to whether or 10 not it's an assumed contract, and the cure amount.

11 THE COURT: Okay. So --

12 MR. KAROTKIN: But --

13 THE COURT: -- if they were not -- if we weren't at 14 confirmation, if this was just a 365 motion against CAL FIRE or 15 any other agency, there'd be a deadline for them to assert 16 their defaults and --

17 MR. KAROTKIN: Yeah, which everyone else already had 18 their deadline.

19 THE COURT: Mr. Pascuzzi, what's the problem?

20 MR. PASCUZZI: Your Honor, we filed our objection as 21 well, at docket 7276. And so just like everybody else, we 22 filed our objections. Under paragraph 34(a) and (b) of the 23 confirmation order, our rights are preserved subject to being 24 resolved post-confirmation. And so I don't know what this last 25 sentence of 67(d) is for, other than maybe trying to shift the

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 burden to us that the debtors should have under 365 with 2 respect to assuming a contract. It's unnecessary.

3 MR. KAROTKIN: There's no burden -- the burden is on 4 the counterparty to come forward with the cure amount.

5 THE COURT: No, the --

6 MR. KAROTKIN: And what --

7 THE COURT: The gover --

8 MR. KAROTKIN: What Mr. Pascuzzi is saying is they 9 never have to do that.

10 THE COURT: Well --

11 MR. KAROTKIN: That's not how it works.

12 THE COURT: Well, Mr. Pascuzzi, if there's a -- if a 13 debtor assumes a contract and the counter -- and doesn't admit 14 to any defaults, the burden is on the counterparty to say, hey, 15 there's a default. Right? And --

16 MR. PASCUZZI: Yes.

17 THE COURT: -- and if the debtor says there is a 18 default, it's 100 dollars, the burden's on the counterparty to 19 say, no, it's 500 dollars. So --

20 MR. PASCUZZI: You're -- 21 THE COURT: -- why is this different?

22 MR. PASCUZZI: It's not different at all, Your Honor.

23 We have already filed an objection to their list of executory 24 contracts in the plan supplement that they want to assume, and 25 the cure amounts, because there are several bases for that. We

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 already filed it. It's at docket 7276.

2 THE COURT: Well, if you've already filed it, then 3 this paragraph descends -- doesn't -- isn't operative.

4 MR. PASCUZZI: It makes no sense that the sentence is 5 even in there, because paragraph 34(a) and (b) already preserve 6 our rights and the United States' rights for this to get 7 resolved post-confirmation. So I don't know what this sentence 8 is or why it's in there.

9 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Troy --

10 MR. KAROTKIN: Because --

11 THE COURT: -- you have a different -- the same 12 argument?

13 MR. TROY: The exact same argument, Your Honor. And I 14 also wanted to emphasize that we also -- the United States also 15 filed a cure objection at document number 7273.

16 MR. KAROTKIN: Providing no cure amounts whatsoever.

17 THE COURT: Okay. But keep in mind that I have not 18 had the time or the inclination to go look at cure amounts. We 19 thought -- I thought we were reserving cures. But --

20 MR. TROY: Your Honor, if I could address this? If 21 you recall, when I cross-examined Mr. Boken, I was given a 22 little leeway, and then Mr. Tsekerides and Karotkin -- Mr.
23 Karotkin jumped in and said, we're not really sure why we have 24 to do this. It's not relevant. All the executory contract 25 cure issues are preserved. Look at the new draft of the

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 confirmation order we just filed. Paragraph 34 preserves all 2 this. I'm not sure why Mr. Troy needs to do this.

3 THE COURT: Mr. Karotkin, if Mr. Pascuzzi, on behalf 4 of his many clients, has already filed his response to the 5 executory contract issues, he doesn't have to do anything under 6 this last sentence, right? Isn't that right?

7 MR. KAROTKIN: If he's filed his cure amounts --

8 THE COURT: If he's already done it. If he's done it.

9 MR. KAROTKIN: If he's already complied with it, then 10 he's already complied with it.

11 THE COURT: And what if some other governmental agency 12 hasn't done anything yet? This gives them ninety days to do 13 it, right?

14 MR. KAROTKIN: Right. Yes.

15 THE COURT: So again, I'm -- I wonder for you two 16 counsel for the two governmental agencies, if you're worried 17 about something that you just can ignore, because you've 18 already acted. I mean, what's the worst that can happen? I 19 mean, why do you have to do anything if you've already done 20 this?

21 MR. PASCUZZI: Your Honor, this is Paul Pascuzzi.

22 I don't know what this sentence means, if it means 23 something different than what we've already done. And --

24 THE COURT: What about if --

25 MR. PASCUZZI: -- that's really the point.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1                   THE COURT: What about if we put on this record that 2 any governmental agency that has already asserted any executory 3 contract issues, including cures, doesn't have to do it again.

4                   MR. PASCUZZI: And the burdens under 365 remain as -- 5 are not affected by this sentence, then that probably covers 6 it.

7                   THE COURT: I mean, I have --

8                   MR. PASCUZZI: But while --

9                   THE COURT: -- to -- I have a -- it sounded to me like 10 this was pretty benign, actually, because the -- it's a lot 11 longer than typical. I mean, the typical is thirty days. I 12 mean, the debtor has already gotten my approval to extend some 13 time to do their assumption. And that's going to trigger a 14 thirty-day restart.

15                  MR. KAROTKIN: Well --

16                  THE COURT: You've got the benefit of ninety days, no 17 matter what.

18                  MR. KAROTKIN: Your Honor, if Mr. Pascuzzi believes 19 he's already complied with all he has to comply with, then it 20 shouldn't be an issue. We need to restate the law.

21                  THE COURT: Right.

22                  MR. KAROTKIN: We need to restate Section 365 to give 23 him a comfort order.

24                  THE COURT: Mr. Troy, is that how you -- again, is 25 this conversation enough to make you comfortable?

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1                   MR. TROY: Not entirely, Your Honor, no, because I'm 2 still not sure why that paragraph is in there. I'm 3 representing --

4                   THE COURT: I just told you. There might be some 5 other governmental agency that's sound asleep.

6                   MR. TROY: Well, Your Honor, they're covered -- 7 they're -- I would submit there aren't any. I filed that cure
8 objection on May 15th in accordance with the scheduling order 9 and the disclosure statement order, and that covers it.

10                  MR. KAROTKIN: If you think so, then you're covered.

11                  THE COURT: Mr. -- to both of you -- they're both 12 experienced in this case, experienced bankruptcy lawyers. You 13 both have said that you have already done what you think you 14 need to do, and you have both said, I've done what I got to do; 15 it's up to the debtor to do something about it. It seemed to 16 me you can safely ignore this paragraph -- or this sentence -- 17 this is six lines -- because you've already done it.

18                  And if, on the ninety-first day, if Mr. Karotkin pulls 19 a got ya that says, ha-ha, I got ya, you didn't comply with the 20 ninety days, I presume the two of you will whack his wrists and 21 say, we already did it before then. But if there is another 22 agency, not -- maybe a state agency that -- if there is one 23 that Mr. Pascuzzi doesn't -- well, not state agency, a 24 governmental party -- that could be an irrigation district or a 25 flood district or some local agency, couldn't it, Mr. Pascuzzi?

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1                   MR. PASCUZZI: Your Honor, the language is limited to 2 an agency or instrumentality of the State of California. So if 3 it -- if you wanted to change the application of that paragraph 4 to governmental units, I think you'd be broadening it. And I 5 would have no opposition to that.

6                   THE COURT: Well, I didn't -- I mean, again, you guys 7 have done your homework on the definitions. I've got to go
8 back and look at the plan. Where'd I put my plan? I --

9                   MR. KAROTKIN: But Your Honor, what I don't understand 10 is this -- this has been in the plan for weeks --

11                  THE COURT: But he's --

12                  MR. KAROTKIN: -- and this is the --

13                  THE COURT: I think what he's saying -- but he's 14 saying -- I don't -- he's saying, I've done it -- I've done 15 what I have to do.

16                  MR. KAROTKIN: Okay. Then fine.

17                  THE COURT: And I --

18                  MR. KAROTKIN: If --

19                  THE COURT: -- don't have to do it again.

20                  MR. KAROTKIN: You said it. If he's done it, he's 21 done it. He doesn't need a comfort order.

22                  THE COURT: I agree with you. I'm trying to agree 23 with you.

24                  MR. TROY: We're not asking for one, Your Honor.

25                  MR. KAROTKIN: I mean, we've given the -- this plan --

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 this confirmation order has turned into a comfort order for 2 governmental units.

3 THE COURT: Governmental units -- the plan defines 4 "governmental unit" as the Code defines it. The Code defines 5 "governmental unit" to mean everything from a school district
6 to the Office of -- the Internal Revenue Service and anywhere 7 in between. And if there is a contractual relationship between 8 the debtor and a little local governmental agency, a city, a 9 county, or something, then -- and if -- well, here, I -- if 10 Berkeley, California has a contractual relationship with PG&E 11 and there is a contract being assumed, and Berkeley is owed 12 some cure amount, they've got ninety days to scream or die.

13 Mr. Pascuzzi, you wouldn't have been in there 14 representing the City of Berkeley, would you?

15 MR. PASCUZZI: Well, Your Honor, paragraph 67(d), 16 though, does not apply to governmental units; it applies to 17 governmental parties, which the debtors have defined to include 18 my clients and Mr. Troy's clients. Again, that's why we were 19 flagging this paragraph as, why are they putting this in here 20 as specifically addressing our issue -- these issues with us 21 when 34(a) and (b) already cover it?

23 MR. PASCUZZI: So --

24 THE COURT: Then why -- when --

25 MR. KAROTKIN: Because you were asking for -- because

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 you came to us and asked for additional time with special 2 treatment. And --

3 THE COURT: Where's the --

4 MR. KAROTKIN: -- we tried to accommodate you.

5 THE COURT: Where is the definition of "governmental 6 party"? Where will I find that?

7 MR. PASCUZZI: It's in 67(d) of the confirmation 8 order, that same paragraph we were looking at.

9 THE COURT: No. Where is it a defined term?

10 MR. KAROTKIN: In paragraph 67(d), in the middle, line 11 10.

12 THE COURT: Oh. I see. So Mr. Karotkin, let's talk 13 about my hypothetical of the City of Berkeley, who has a 14 contractual relationship with PG&E. They're not governed by 15 this ninety days, then?

16 MR. KAROTKIN: No, they're governed by other 17 provisions, which I believe required them to already do this.

18 THE COURT: Well, this is one of those things where, 19 here are, it's 20 minutes to 2 our time on the day and time to 20 confirm this plan. And two experienced lawyers say, why do I 21 have to worry about this paragraph; it doesn't mean anything.
22 And Mr. Karotkin says, if you've already complied with it, you 23 don't need it. And I'm going, well, what's the harm in doing 24 nothing?

25 Look, I'm going to -- Mr. Pascuzzi and Mr. Troy, I

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 don't -- I think you well know whether your clients have 2 complied with this requirement of this sentence. And if they 3 haven't, they've got ninety days to do it. I don't think it's 4 necessary to do anything further about it. This colloquy is on 5 the record. If Mr. Karotkin tries to take a different point of 6 view in the future by saying, you didn't comply, you lose, he 7 will lose, because he's just clarified what he said. And I 8 think the record speaks for itself on that.

9 MR. KAROTKIN: Your Honor, I'll just say one last 10 thing. The company has a lot of relationships with the United 11 States government and the State of California. It's not going 12 to do anything irresponsible in that regard to jeopardize those 13 relationships.

14 THE COURT: I -- that's fine. I do appreciate the 15 problem, and I'm not faulting these lawyers for raising it.
16 But I think, given the clarification, they don't have much to 17 worry about on this one. So --

18 MR. PASCUZZI: Thank you, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: Okay.

20 MR. TROY: Thank you.

21 THE COURT: Now --

22 MR. KAROTKIN: I would still, Your Honor, like a ten 23 or fifteen-minute recess. And I think that we can resolve 24 this. I'd just rather do it on the record so we know it's 25 resolved and everyone agrees to it. So if I can --

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1                   THE COURT: Okay.

2                   MR. KAROTKIN: -- indulge the Court --

3                   THE COURT: Hold on.

4                   Mr. Abrams, you've got your hand up. I'm not going to 5 call upon you. I'm dealing with confirmation issues today, and 6 I -- to the extent that you want to be heard, I know you have 7 lots of things you want to be heard about. But you are not a 8 participant on the objections that are the subject of this 9 hearing today. So I'm not going to call on you and leave it at 10 that.

11                  And Mr. Karotkin, I will -- I'll ask Ms. Parada.

12                  Ms. Parada, given my problems, would you -- should we 13 just keep the Zoom session running and just tell Mr. Karotkin 14 to go offline, and I'll mute out and close my screen, and we'll 15 come back in about ten minutes? Does that work for you?

16                  THE CLERK: Yes, Your Honor. I could keep the Zoom 17 going, and whoever wants to log out can log back in, and I'll 18 bring them back in at the --

19                  THE COURT: Yeah. I don't know what --

20                  THE CLERK: -- after the recess.

21                  THE COURT: I don't know what went wrong on my end.

22                  But -- okay. Mr. Karotkin, by my calculation, it's 23 about 10, 20 -- 20 minutes to 2 our time. We'll -- do you 24 think ten is enough, or do you want a little longer?

25                  MR. KAROTKIN: How about fifteen?

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1                   THE COURT: Okay. We'll start at 5 minutes to 2 our 2 time. And for everyone who's monitoring, I'll just -- I'm just 3 going to mute and close down my screen and see you all in 4 fifteen minutes. Okay?

5                   All right. Thank you.

6                   (Whereupon a recess was taken)

7                   THE COURT: Mr. Karotkin, Mr. Bray and I were 8 speculating on whether you left us and walked out on the 9 hearing.

10                  MR. KAROTKIN: I was thinking about it.

11                  THE COURT: All right. What's the verdict?

12                  MR. KAROTKIN: So here's the proposal, and hopefully, 13 it addresses what we were talking about.

14                  In 8.2(a) of the plan -- I'll make sure Mr. Bray has 15 it handy.

16                  THE COURT: I --

17                  MR. BRAY: 8.1, right?

18                  MR. KAROTKIN: Well, actually, it's --

19                  MR. BRAY: 8.1?

20                  MR. KAROTKIN: -- at -- it's at 8.2, I think.

21                  THE COURT: 8.2(a)?

22                  MR. KAROTKIN: No, I think it meant 8.2(a), not 23 8.1(a).

24                  MR. BRAY: I have to find the provision now, sorry.

25                  THE COURT: Well, the first sentence of 8.2(a) is "Any

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 monetary defaults", and that's where --

2 MR. BRAY: Right. Exactly.

3 THE COURT: -- there was no reference to nonmonetary.

4 MR. KAROTKIN: So what we would propose -- unless Mr.
5 Bray wants me to wait?

6 MR. BRAY: No, I'll follow. Go ahead.

7 MR. KAROTKIN: We would suggest, in 8.2(a), deleting 8 the word "monetary" in the first sentence -- in the first line.
9 And then in the third line, where it says, "By payment of the 10 default amount", we would add the words if applicable -- comma 11 if applicable comma. And then --

12 THE COURT: Well, wait one second on that. Remember, 13 the statute allows you to do something other than pay.

14 MR. KAROTKIN: Well, that's why we said, if it's 15 payable -- if you keep reading, as reflected in the applicable 16 cure notes, in cash.

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 MR. KAROTKIN: That's how we address it.

19 And then in the proposed language for 8.2(e) that we 20 put in our pleading -- not the language that's in the plan, the 21 one that we -- on page 6- -- 5 or 6 of the pleading --

22 MR. BRAY: Right.

23 MR. KAROTKIN: -- that we filed this morning --

24 THE COURT: Yeah.

25 MR. KAROTKIN: -- we would delete the words -- pardon

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 me -- on line 8, "whether monetary or nonmonetary". So it
2 would just go, "In keeping to the fullest extent permitted 3 until applicable law."

4 THE COURT: So let me read it with that strikeout. So 5 it says "Assumption", et cetera, leads "to the fullest extent".

6 Mr. Bray?

7 MR. BRAY: Yeah, Your Honor, the only other thing we 8 need to fix is the definition of "cure amount", which also only 9 speaks to a monetary default. That's why I referenced 8.1(a).
10 If you look at the definition of "cure amount", it has the same 11 issue. And that was really why -- means the payment of cash or 12 the distribution of other property to cure a monetary default.
13 It's definition 1.40. It's the same issue.

14 THE COURT: Well -- but the definition in -- oh, 15 you're right. The word --

16 MR. BRAY: Yeah.

17 THE COURT: -- "nonmonetary" is missing from the 18 definition.

19 MR. BRAY: Right.

20 THE COURT: I had marked that also.

21 MR. BRAY: Yeah.

22 THE COURT: So do we fix it by the order, or, Mr.
23 Karotkin, are we going to --

24 MR. KAROTKIN: Well, I think that -- I think that the 25 words in the 1.40 actually word, because I think (b) covers the

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 other thing, which permit the debtors to assume -- as necessary
2 to permit the debtors to assume or assume and assign. So I 3 think it would cover that.

4 THE COURT: Okay. Say that --

5 MR. BRAY: A nonmonetary -- I didn't read it that way.
6 If there's a nonmonetary default, I read this to mean you don't 7 have to cure it.

8 THE COURT: Well --

9 MR. BRAY: Subject to the --

10 THE COURT: Mr. Karotkin, you proposed -- the first 11 thing you said -- you were striking "monetary" from the 8.2(a), 12 right?

13 MR. KAROTKIN: Right.

14 THE COURT: So it says any default, so therefore it's 15 saying defaults. And then they're paid, if applicable, in 16 cash. But what if it's --

17 MR. BRAY: Right.

18 THE COURT: -- what if it's not in cash? Where do we 19 pick it up?

20 MR. KAROTKIN: You have to cure it under 365.

21 THE COURT: Well --

22 MR. KAROTKIN: Or on --

23 THE COURT: Why can't you --

24 MR. KAROTKIN: It's becoming really complicated now.

25 THE COURT: Well, this whole thing is complicated, but

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 so what? That's why we're doing it. I mean, I --

2 MR. KAROTKIN: I've been doing it on my --

3 THE COURT: Remember, Mr. Bray gave you two 4 alternatives.

5 MR. KAROTKIN: I know. Neither of which are 6 appropriate.

7 THE COURT: Mr. Bray, do you remember the actual words 8 of your alternatives?

9 MR. BRAY: Well, I -- if you look at -- if you -- I
10 think you can fix this pretty easily. In Section -- in def -- 11 the definition of "cure amount", 1.40, if you strike the word 12 "monetary", it just says, "to cure a default as required by 13 Section 365 of the Code," I think you fixed it there. And then 14 the same with respect to 8.2(a).

15 MR. KAROTKIN: Yeah, but if you look at -- 1.40 says 16 you're distributing cash to cure a monetary --

17 MR. BRAY: Well, the -- 18 MR. KAROTKIN: -- default.

19 MR. BRAY: Right. Right.

20 THE COURT: No, you're going too -- wait, Mr.
21 Karotkin, you're going too fast for me. 1.39 is where Mr. Bray 22 says, strike "monetary".

23 MR. KAROTKIN: Your Honor, I --

24 MR. BRAY: Yeah, it's 1.40, Your Honor, the definition 25 of "cure".

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1                   THE COURT: Well, that's a new -- what plan are you 2 looking at?

3                   MR. BRAY: It's 8.1(a). It's -- 8.1(a) and 8.2 have 4 the -- it's the -- they're the same issue. They all refer to 5 monetary defaults only. That's how we got into this pickle.
6 So the definition --

7                   THE COURT: Yeah.

8                   MR. BRAY: -- of "cure amount" in those two sections 9 need to be revised to pick up for the possibility of having to 10 cure a nonmonetary default, as required by the Code.

11                  THE COURT: Yeah, I think he's right on that, Mr.
12 Karotkin.

13                  Can -- but if you -- you can solve the problem by -- I 14 think, by expanding the definition of "cure amount". And 15 that --

16                  MR. BRAY: Right, I think -- right.

17                  THE COURT: And then you have --

18                  MR. KAROTKIN: But we've already --

19                  THE COURT: -- you have the ability to pay cash, if 20 applicable. But if they -- again, we might be talking about 21 angels on a pin here.

22                  MR. KAROTKIN: But it says, "The payment of cash or 23 the distribution of other property, as necessary, to permit the 24 assumption."

25                  THE COURT: But the --

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 MR. BRAY: Well, it says, "to cure a monetary 2 default".

3 THE COURT: Your "cure amount" definition is more 4 limited than the statute.

5 MR. BRAY: Right.

6 THE COURT: You don't have anything in the 7 definitional section for --

8 MR. KAROTKIN: I know, but the --

9 THE COURT: -- taking care of nonmonetary defaults 10 that are fixable.

11 MR. KAROTKIN: But the cure amount is a defined term 12 so people can tell you the cash that you need to pay to cure.

13 THE COURT: Mr. Karotkin, look at the 1.39 --

14 MR. KAROTKIN: I'm looking at it.

15 THE COURT: -- (a) --

16 MR. KAROTKIN: I'm looking at it.

17 THE COURT: -- so the low -- "cure a monetary 18 default". So my question is, where are you curing a 19 nonmonetary default?

20 MR. KAROTKIN: I'm curing it in 8.2(a).

21 THE COURT: But you're not curing it in your 22 definition.

23 MR. KAROTKIN: No, but the cure amount is dollars.
24 That doesn't preclude the fact that you have to -- if there are 25 things that have to be cured, they have to be cured. The cure

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 amount is just a definition of dollars.

2 THE COURT: It may not -- but it may not be a 3 dollar --

4 MR. KAROTKIN: Not, but --

5 THE COURT: -- amount.

6 MR. KAROTKIN: -- but -- and I'm saying, Judge, in 7 8.2(a), it requires you do everything. But for purposes of the 8 dollars, that's the cure amount that has to be paid. So I 9 think it's entirely consistent.

10 THE COURT: Well -- but you're --

11 MR. KAROTKIN: In paragraph B --

12 THE COURT: I guess I'm still having --

13 MR. KAROTKIN: I think --

14 THE COURT: -- trouble with your being inconsistent -- 15 your definitions don't track the statute. So why not --

16 MR. KAROTKIN: Yes, they do. Yes, they do. We're -- 17 the cure amount is not supposed to necessarily encompass 18 everything. It's supposed to encompass the cash element of the 19 cure.

20 THE COURT: Okay. Tell me about a non- -- tell me --

21 MR. KAROTKIN: 8.2(a) -- if you look at 8.2(a), "Any 22 default under an assumed or assigned contract shall be 23 satisfied pursuant to Section 365(b) by the payment of" 24 applicable -- "of cash on the effective date or on such other 25 terms."

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1                   THE COURT: Okay. Again, I -- I'm wonder -- we're on 2 the same version. So I'm in 8.2(a), and you said you would 3 strike the second word, which is "monetary". And so then it 4 would read, any default that is curable later on in cash, if 5 applicable, or something like that.

6                   So what if we have a nonmonetary default that needs to 7 be cured by noncash matters? How is it -- where do you take 8 care of that?

9                   MR. KAROTKIN: That's -- actually, now looking at it, 10 that's in paragraph B of the definition of "cure amount", 11 because you're required to do anything else that's necessary --

12                  MR. BRAY: Well --

13                  MR. KAROTKIN: -- to do the cure.

14                  MR. BRAY: -- it says "and". It doesn't because it 15 says "and". It's not an "or". It's still not -- I thought 16 about that, too.

17                  MR. KAROTKIN: "And" and "or" are the same.

18                  THE COURT: Yeah, I don't think that solves the 19 problem, either. But again, we ought to be able to fix this.
20 And I'm not --

21                  MR. KAROTKIN: Your Honor, I think it worked.

22                  THE COURT: Well, let's go back to what the committee 23 and Mr. Bray suggested and whether that --

24                  MR. BRAY: Our fix was just 8.2(e) that just 25 referenced monetary defaults and tracked the other provisions.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 THE COURT: Right. That's right.

2 MR. KAROTKIN: Which was what? Just to delete those 3 four words, five words?

4 MR. BRAY: The nonmonetary defaults, deleted "or 5 non" -- I think or -- yeah, deleted "or nonmonetary default".

6 THE COURT: Yeah, he did -- that's what he did on what 7 he filed this morning, on page --

8 MR. BRAY: Yeah.

9 THE COURT: -- page 5 or 6.

10 MR. BRAY: Page 3.

11 THE COURT: In that indented quote, he struck "whether 12 monetary or nonmonetary".

13 MR. KAROTKIN: That's what I proposed with respect to 14 8.2(e) as well ten minutes ago.

15 MR. BRAY: I just -- Your Honor, I think we just need, 16 in the confirmation order, some clear statement that both 17 monetary and nonmonetary defaults could be cured as required by 18 the Code.

19 THE COURT: Well -- and I think --

20 MR. BRAY: And I think we're --

21 THE COURT: But I think that's what you're suggesting, 22 because everything -- every time we talk about 8.2, we're also 23 talking about --

24 MR. BRAY: Right.

25 THE COURT: -- paragraph 34(d) of the order.

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1                   MR. BRAY: Right. Right. Right. I think we just add 2 a provision that says what I just said: and any -- the debtors 3 shall cure any monetary or nonmonetary defaults to the extent 4 required by Section 365.

5                   MR. KAROTKIN: Well, now we're talking about other 6 changes?

7                   MR. BRAY: I -- it's just --

8                   MR. KAROTKIN: Or 8.2(e)?

9                   MR. BRAY: No, it would -- well, I --

10                  MR. KAROTKIN: Now --

11                  MR. BRAY: -- was thinking --

12                  MR. KAROTKIN: -- we're going beyond 8.2(e)?

13                  THE COURT: No, I don't think he is. I -- again, look 14 at his -- look at -- I thought Mr. Bray was agreeing to the 15 language, Mr. Karotkin, that you had mentioned this morning. I 16 mean, I -- maybe I'm missing --

17                  MR. BRAY: Yeah, we -- the difference was -- the issue 18 was the inclusion in their language of the nonmonetary 19 defaults. That's been the distinction between our two 20 provisions all along. So we either make it -- we -- I think 21 the fix is to make it clear in the plan or the disclosure 22 statement -- or, I'm sorry, the order that the debtor, to the 23 extent they're required to do it under the Code, will cure 24 nonmonetary defaults.

25                  MR. KAROTKIN: I think that the best way to do this

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 is, with respect to paragraph 8.2(e), is just to delete the 2 reference to "whether monetary or nonmonetary" and be done with 3 it.

4 THE COURT: Shouldn't the (e) --

5 MR. KAROTKIN: And that's what Mr. Bray propo -- I 6 think that's he proposed this morning.

7 THE COURT: Well, I'll make one nitpick with you.
8 Wouldn't it be better to take the (e) out of the -- well, never 9 mind. Wait, excuse me. No, I'm sorry. Yeah, take -- just 10 make 8.2 -- 8.2, delete -- strike the word "monetary" in 8.2(a) 11 and then -- and make the same change in 8.2(e). In other 12 words --

13 MR. BRAY: Yeah, that would work, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: That's consistent. You take "monetary" 15 out of 8.2(a) and take "whether monetary or nonmonetary" out of 16 8.2(e). And then the confirmation order, you take the phrase 17 "whether monetary or nonmonetary".

18 MR. KAROTKIN: But I just want to make -- can I just 19 ask -- if you look at what we proposed in our pleading this 20 morning or this afternoon --

21 THE COURT: I'm looking at it.

22 MR. KAROTKIN: Okay. On page 6 -- or 5, we would 23 delete at the end, "whether monetary or nonmonetary".

24 THE COURT: I -- you got -- I got you. I got you.

25 MR. KAROTKIN: Okay. Is that -- all right. So we

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 will do that. And then in -- I guess, in 8.2(a), delete the 2 word "monetary" --

3 THE COURT: Yes.

4 MR. KAROTKIN: -- and be done with it?

5 THE COURT: And that's con -- then you're consistent.

6 MR. KAROTKIN: Okay. I think -- I thought that's what 7 I said.

8 THE COURT: Mr. Bray, I think --

9 MR. BRAY: We're -- based upon this colloquy and those 10 fixes, we're fine, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: This is a drafting by --

12 MR. KAROTKIN: Okay. But will you --

13 THE COURT: -- drafting --

14 MR. KAROTKIN: -- will you --

15 THE COURT: -- by committee.

16 MR. BRAY: Yes.

17 MR. KAROTKIN: So Mr. Bray, just so there's no 18 misunderstanding, our language on page -- the second to the 19 last page of our pleading, correct --

20 THE COURT: Yes.

21 MR. BRAY: I'll find it here. Yeah.

22 MR. KAROTKIN: -- before the subsection fire claim --

23 THE COURT: You strike four words from the indent.

24 MR. KAROTKIN: Four words at the bottom: "whether 25 monetary or nonmonetary". And in 8.2(a), we strike the word

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company

1 "monetary".

2 THE COURT: That's correct.

3 MR. BRAY: That is correct.

4 MR. KAROTKIN: Done.

5 MR. BRAY: Yeah. And then that, coupled with this 6 exchange, I think we're fine.

7 MR. KAROTKIN: Okay. Done.

8 THE COURT: We have agreement?

9 MR. KAROTKIN: Yes.

10 MR. BRAY: We do.

11 THE COURT: So Mr. Karotkin -- well, thank you, 12 gentlemen.

13 Mr. Karotkin, what's next?

14 MR. KAROTKIN: We file the revised plan -- we need to 15 file a revised plan -- an actual formal revised plan to reflect 16 today's -- whatever happened today, to address Mr. Bray's 17 issue, to address -- well, the other -- I think, really, just 18 to address Mr. Bray's issues. And I think that's it.

19 THE COURT: Okay.

20 MR. KAROTKIN: Unless my colleagues tell me otherwise.

21 THE COURT: Is this something you're able to do or 22 need to do? Is it something you want us to be able to enter an 23 order tomorrow? We can do it if necessary.

24 MR. KAROTKIN: Yeah.

25 THE COURT: I'll do it today if necessary. The

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 question's, can you do it?

2 MR. KAROTKIN: I think we can get you something in -- 3 within a couple of hours. I've got to talk to my colleagues, 4 but I believe -- I believe it doesn't require very many 5 changes.

6 THE COURT: The question that I have for you is, is it 7 critical from your point of view and the people that you're 8 awaiting to hear from me that you get an order today versus 9 tomorrow or Sunday or Monday? And --

10 MR. KAROTKIN: I think tomorrow would be fine. I 11 think --

12 THE COURT: I mean, if not --

13 MR. KAROTKIN: -- people would --

14 THE COURT: There's no -- we can enter an order on a 15 Saturday, and it's set.

16 MR. KAROTKIN: Right. Well, as I said, we have -- we 17 will provide a revised plan in this -- and confirmation order 18 to you within a couple of hours. We will file a plan 19 supplement with the trust documents, and I believe that 20 resolves everything. And --

21 THE COURT: If you can --

22 MR. KAROTKIN: -- we will add the language -- I'm 23 sorry, Mr. Johnson reminds me, we will add the language to 24 address the side A resolution as well.

25 THE COURT: If you can upload the order today, we'll

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 enter it today. It's not a problem.

2 MR. KAROTKIN: Okay.

3 THE COURT: I have to trust you, and I do. And as I 4 said, if there is a screwup, we'll fix it by an amended order, 5 if necessary. Obviously, nobody wants to do that. And -- 6 but -- and if Mr. Bray and Mr. Etkin want to have a chance to 7 weigh in, they've got a couple of hours to let you know of any 8 last-minute problems.

9 Well, Mr. Karotkin, your staff and you are in touch 10 with my courtroom deputy frequently. You can give her a heads 11 up when you are about to upload -- to file the plan and upload 12 the order. My commitment to you --

13 MR. KAROTKIN: Will do.

14 THE COURT: -- will be, unless it's past bedtime, 15 we'll manage to get that order entered today, unless it's -- 16 just can't be done, in which case we'll do it tomorrow.

17 MR. KAROTKIN: Okay. Very well. Thank you, sir.

18 And thank you for your guidance throughout this 19 process.

20 THE COURT: Well, I'm going to start by thanking. I 21 want to congratulate you and all of your staff and the two 22 official committees.

23 Mr. Bray, you've been main point lately, but certainly 24 Mr. Julian and the committees, but also the unofficial 25 committees, and the lawyers representing a number of the very

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 significant players: the agencies, the governmental agencies, 2 the state and federal, the various players representing other 3 municipalities and governmental agencies that have played a 4 role, and even the individual counsel who have been 5 participating on behalf of their own clients.

6 This has been a very comprehensive and complex 7 challenge for everyone, but we've all set out to try to get the 8 plan in place. And hopefully, it is on the way now and will 9 become effective. So it's been a pleasure to see so many 10 lawyers working diligently for their clients, but 11 professionally and highest quality of legal work and civility 12 and conduct of officers of the court of the highest order.

13 So it's been my pleasure to oversee it. And I'm 14 not -- you're not done with me yet, but this is an important 15 point. So I'm glad to be there and happy and thank you for 16 your hard work and your efforts.

17 MR. KAROTKIN: Thank you, sir.

18 MR. BRAY: Thank you, Your Honor.

19 MR. KAROTKIN: It's very much appreciated.

20 THE COURT: Let me just take one --

21 MR. KAROTKIN: On behalf of my firm, our colleagues, 22 the Cravath firm, and, of course, the company, foremost.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. BRAY: Likewise, Your Honor, we appreciate it -- I 25 appreciate it very much having the pleasure of appearing before

PG&E Corp. and Pacific Gas and Electric Company
1 you. And the committee thanks you for your efforts and --

2 THE COURT: Okay.

3 MR. BRAY: -- commitment to this case.

4 THE COURT: This is turning into a lovefest.

5 Thank you all. Have a good weekend.

6 Mr. Karotkin, make sure Ms. Parada knows our schedule.

7 MR. KAROTKIN: Will do.

8 THE COURT: All right. I'm going to end the session.

9 Thank you all for your time.

10 MR. KAROTKIN: Thank you.
